

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a carrying case with an internal suspension system which is provided to reduce acceleration, shock, and the vibrational loads on an electronic device positioned within by placing the suspension system in a state of constant tension.

J:\2417\291\PAT APP.wpd6